

Laura Kistemaker

Laura Kistemaker is co-founder and COO of Justice42. Justice42 is an ODR company that developed the online divorce platform Uitelkaar.nl. Previously, Laura worked at The Hague Institute for Innovation of Law. There she was involved in Uitelkaar.nl's predecessor Rechtwijzer and in various other innovative legal projects. Laura has been a driving force behind legal tech integration into the justice system, and bringing online dispute resolution to the market for 10 years. Her company has enabled thousands of couples to navigate their divorce in a modern, less burdensome, and less costly way – from the initial stage all the way to the end of formalisation in court. Laura strongly believes in ODR with all the right balances: between technology and personal care, between do-it-yourself and professional support, and between standardised technology and tailored services.
